

Citizen Resolution # 720223

Reduce use of lead in the field by increasing the cost

Lead has been used for too long in the hunting/fishing hobbies. The dangers are well documented. There are alternatives in the market that can eliminate our usage. In order to coax a transition we could implement a tax that would make the use of those alternatives cheaper than the items that use lead.

I don't like taxes anymore than the next citizen, but have come to accept that we usually have to pay for big changes (potholes, new roads and schools, environmental corrections etc.) to better our state and the world we live in.

Do you support an additional tax on recreational products containing lead?
