Hi Linda:

For this site, we are the consultant working on this for Milwaukee County.

During the construction of the new Hutsteiner Drive in 1999-2000, several pieces of USTs were identified in the roadway. They were not complete tanks, but rather bottoms that were left in place, likely due to buildings that were in the way previously. I'm not sure why there was a release notification sent in, but the USTs were owned by former tenants located at those areas.

We figure the investigation and cleanup were completed under a different BRRTs and this site should be rolled into that BRRTs. Eric and I spent quite a while trying to determine where all the BRRTs number fit – since at times several different companies were submitting release notifications. I will put a letter together discussing this site and submit with a request to combine it with the site that completed the investigation at that site.

Thanks!
Linda
