My understanding is that there is no cap and that the piezometer tubes are just exposed. Shouldn't there be some sort of cover to keep rain and such from going down?

That was a very expensive piezometer experiment Tom H. Talked us into. We will need to look in the case file for construction log. But it is sealed from surface. Not sure what the grey pipe is.

What are you asking us to do about it?

Jeff,

It was brought to my attention that there is what appears to be a drinking-well-converted-to-monitoring-well that has been left open and exposed at 1705 Greenfield Ave. See attached email & photo.

Steve, Hello. We were contacted by Harry Brar regarding your request for follow up on the Food Tree Project. Not much has been done and like the DNR we have had a turn over in Project Manager. As we have stated on the DNR biannual update, the case closure is being prepared. Please contact us for future correspondence.

Hello,

I have taken over Tom Hvizdaks hydrogeologist duties here at the DNR. Please forward this letter to whomever is the project lead for Bill's Minimart.

We are committed to service excellence.
