Hello Gwen,

Thank you for your email.

We did in fact did contract with EnviroForensics. A costly search for insurance policy coverage was completed. EnviroForensics did have some positive results but also some sobering news. Settling or obtaining any settlement for environmental damage from the insurance company will be difficult, costly, and would have uncertain success.

We are unable to agree to any future work by EnviroForensics. Several options were proposed but were financially impossible for us. We will meet with EnviroForensics in the near future to discuss further.

I can provide EnviroForensics contact information if you wish. Let me know.

Paul,

At the end of last October you mentioned proceeding with a work plan from EnviroForensics to look into your environmental insurance. I am reaching out to get an update on the progress of the search, and whether any discoveries have been made. Let me know if there is someone from EnviroForensics I should contact for the update. I would appreciate your response to this email by January 24, 2022.

Thank you,

We are committed to service excellence.
