Yes, METCO is the consultant for this project. However, the site is being transferred to a new Responsible Party and the new "Agent" contract has been generated and we are currently waiting for a signature from our client. Ron is continuing to follow this up and if you have any questions please give him a call.

Thanks,

Jason,

If METCO is the consultant for this site (it indicates that in the file, but I did not see any follow up to confirm this), would you please send me an email updating me on the status of this site?

Thanks.

We are committed to service excellence.
