Hello Tauren & Don - Just want to report that Harmon & Vy are back home now after six weeks being away in rehab after her knee replacement. They are doing fairly well considering their age & circumstances. They are ready to proceed with vapor testing, so Don, we can proceed with testing as your schedule permits.

Talk to you soon,
John

Good morning John,

I am so sorry to hear that news. I hope everything goes well with her surgery and rehab. I don't want to put any additional stress on the current situation, so we can just proceed with the vapor testing and see how that turns out. I would agree that the vapor testing in the downstairs living space is what needs to be evaluated at this time and vapor testing upstairs would not be needed unless the indoor air downstairs indicated a problem.

Thanks for getting back to me,
