Thank you for the notification, Keld.

I concur with the Type B site designation as all current PCB detections are below 1 mg/kg. Please contact us should > 50 ppm PCB be discovered at this facility.

Thanks,

Peter:

The required EPA notification for a PCB contaminated site is attached for your use.

The RP letter is viewable via the link below from our database (BRRS on the Web):
<https://dnr.wi.gov/botw/GetActivityDetail.do?adn=0205583452&crumb=0>

All PCB concentrations identified in soil are below 1 ppm. Impacted soil is anticipated to be excavated and landfilled.

Note that WDNR is also requiring PFAS sampling at this site due to a long site history as a papermaking facility. This is in addition to investigation/remediation of the confirmed PCB contamination in soil.

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks,

-Keld
