5. Additional Information. (Space will expand to fit your text.)

this Project was directly adjacent to an existing feedlot that was completed by the landowner with no manure containment. Construction included concrete walls to contain the manure in the existing feedlot with a sediment basin and waterway treatment strip to settle out the liquids. Photos included with this report show before, during and after pictures of this project.

6. Summary of Project Challenges. (Space will expand to fit your text.)

After the grant was awarded, the office technician with the necessary job approval to complete this project resigned. We were able to use the services of the DATCP staff in the Eau Claire office for survey, design, construction oversight and certification and very appreciative of their assistance. The initial design was completed in 2012, however due to an early fall and contractor availability, construction was not completed until 2013. DATCP staff were readily available and work was completed timely.
