

Heimbruch TRM Final Report Picture Legend

#1- Spring 2009 picture of the Steingraber (now Heimbruch) barnyard and filter strip system. The system was overwhelmed by animal numbers and filter strip had failed years ago. Note the manure runoff ran into the road ditch and down to Little Wolf River.

#2- End of failed filter strip with heifer dry lot in background.

#3- Temporary plug built during Grant Period to keep runoff from entering road ditch.

#4- Former filter strip area, August 2015, now graded, seeded and abandoned.

#5- Former barnyard in August 2015. Now abandoned and used for commodity storage under roof.

#6- Close up of abandoned barnyard, August 2015.

#7- Abandoned heifer housing and dry lots, August 2015.

#8- Construction of NRCS 313 manure storage area, November 2014, (now under roof) at Heimbruch Home Farm.

#9- Completed animal barn with Roofed Manure Storage at Heimbruch Home Farm, August 2015.

#10- Roofed Manure Storage area in use, August 2015.

#11- Roofed Manure Storage area in use, August 2015.

#12- Animal housing area of new barn at Heimbruch Home Farm, August 2015.
